

An Alliance that Bridges the Third-Party Identity Gap

Two-thirds of known data breaches today occur because of an external third party, so controlling access to data and systems for contractors, vendors, independent providers etc., through different internal processes and systems is no longer a workable practice. Organizations need a solution for managing and identifying the full scope of people that have access to their facilities and resources, as well as understanding the internal and external relationships to the organization, especially for non-employees. The integration between SecZetta and SailPoint allows customers to appropriately manage the full range of simple to very complex scenarios when it comes to non-employee lifecycle, identities, and access.

SecZetta Overview

SecZetta provides third-party identity risk solutions that are easy to use, and purpose built to help organizations execute risk-based identity access and lifecycle strategies for non-employee populations. With SecZetta, organizations are uniquely able to collect third-party, non-employee data in a collaborative and consistent manner, from both internal and external sources, throughout the lifecycle of the third party.

SailPoint and SecZetta – Better Together

SailPoint and SecZetta provide the convenience of non-employee identity risk and lifecycle management with the needed control of identity security. Organizations can build and execute business processes for the lifecycle of non-employees then connect them with the appropriate identity profiles and workflows within SailPoint. This integration provides effective identity security, enabling seamless provisioning and deprovisioning of access, as well as allowing organizations to collaborate among multiple contributors, across both the organization and external third parties.

Benefits:

- Coordination of non-employee lifecycle events and related identity and access updates
- Creation of a complete risk profile for non-employees that considers vendor and identity risk
- Close the gap between third-party risk and access control
- Configure processes to handle multiple types of non-employees
- External collaboration around non-employee lifecycle via unique, branded portals for each vendor or partner

- Create actionable relationships that span multiple sources

Features and Use Cases

- Establishment of SailPoint identity profile created and managed in SecZetta
- Update of SecZetta profile with identity attributes or access details that can contribute to the non-employee's risk profile
- When non-employee attributes, status, or risk score are updated in SecZetta, SailPoint executes appropriate processes or workflows to adjust or certify access

Summary

With SecZetta's integration for SailPoint, customers have a single system of record for non-employee data across the entire organization that directly informs third-party identity and access via SailPoint's extensive identity security capabilities. This combination provides enterprises with the automated access and governance controls needed to mitigate the risk of a security breach from non-employee accounts and enforce compliance policies, while giving the business the tools for managing the demands of today's extended workforce.
